

As the value of  $N$  increases, the percentage error during reconstruction decreases. As the number of terms increases, the error of approximation is reduced. As  $N$  increases, the oscillations become more compressed towards the jump discontinuity. But the over-shoot amplitude does not change with changing  $N$ .